

CitrusBits - Mobile Apps Development Company

CitrusBits Named a Top LA Developer by Clutch!

We are pleased to announce that we have been recognized as a Top Los Angeles Mobile App Development Company and Custom Software Development Company by Clutch, a ratings and review platform out of Washington, D.C

We are pleased to announce that we have been recognized as a Top Los Angeles Mobile App Development Company and Custom Software Development Company by Clutch, a ratings and review platform out of Washington, D.C., in their annual research. Just last month, we were also recognized as a Top San Francisco Development Company by Clutch as well.

Clutch is a ratings and reviews firm covering companies in LA and around the world. Their work examines thousands of companies based on their market presence, previous work, and proven ability to deliver excellence to their clients. Most importantly, the Clutch team speaks directly with clients to conduct reviews to hear first-hand how each firm performs.

We want to thank our clients for their continued support and their willingness to provide us with reviews on Clutch. One of our most recent five-star reviews comes from the communications manager at a global restaurant chain. The reviewer had the following praise to share regarding our work:

“The team was enthusiastic and driven from the get-go. We were very impressed by Citrusbits’ work ethic, professionalism, and enthusiasm about the project. The deliverables we received throughout the development process were on-time and top quality. I have no improvements to suggest for Citrusbits as we are thoroughly satisfied. We have been impressed by the quality and speed of work delivered by Citrusbits.”

We are proud to be featured among several top LA development companies, and look forward to continuing to improve our visibility on Clutch!