Scottsdale Wealth Advisory Hosts First Annual Investor Symposium on how to Find Balance in Your Retirement Strategy

This press release is notifying people in Scottsdale and Phoenix, Arizona about the addition of 4 new retirement planning symposium events.

PHOENIX, October 8th, 2017 - Scottsdale Wealth Advisory, LLC announced it's adding four new Investor Symposium dates to meet overwhelming attendee registrations. The newly added Symposium dates begin October 11th, followed by October 24th, November 18th, and December 5th. The October and December Symposiums are hosted at Dominick's Steakhouse in the Scottsdale Quarter, the November 18th Symposium is held at the Musical Instrument Museum.

The Investor Symposium offers an in-depth look at investment and insurance retirement strategies used by the affluent. The agenda addresses the most common detrimental retirement risks involved with poor planning, how to stay ahead of the curve on rapidly-evolving tax favorable financial solutions, while exposing the truth in management fees and expenses that consumers aren't aware they are paying, thus impacting portfolio performance negatively. Attendees walk away from the Symposium with specific step-by-step action items that they can follow in the comfort of their own home, that immediately assist them in understanding prudent financial decisions.

Scottsdale Wealth Advisory president, Brent Matthew, provides direct access to industry experts of life and health insurance, investment management, real-estate management, and investor protection laws at each Symposium.
