Digiarty Wraps 4K Downscaling Feature in WinX HD Video Converter Deluxe

As an experienced multimedia software provider, Digiarty Software keeps high acuity in tech and focuses more on 4K. Eventually, it released a new revamped version of WinX HD Video Converter Deluxe to perfectly downscale 4K videos to 2K, 1080P while remaining original quality.

In recent years, 4K gets sharp development and becomes the new trend in electronics and media industry. 4K is initially taken as a digital camera standard referring to a resolution of 4096 x 2160 pixels and soon expands its adoption to TVs, PC displays and videos on streaming sites, like YouTube, Netflix. 4K movies are no longer hard to access as well.

4K wins its popularity in this digital era and brings a superior viewing experience. On the other hand, requirements of downscaling 4K appear and 4K downscaler is quite in need. Although some devices natively support 4K video playback/recording by using HEVC/H.264 codec, large size of 4K video still produces troubles of space eating. Some older and legacy devices/computers lack the ability to well support 4K and HEVC. What can fix the problem is to downscale 4K videos.

Digiarty improves WinX HD Video Converter Deluxe turning it to be a powerful 4K downscaler empowering users to:

- ?Directly compress 4K to 2K MP4, convert 4K to iPhone/iPad/Android, transcode a 4K video encoded with HEVC to H.264, AVI, WMV, MOV, FLV etc, accepted by specific devices, player or online sites.
- ?Manually change the resolution from 4K to 1080P/720P/480P as well as set new value for bit rate, frame rate, aspect ratio to obtain a demand effect of output file.
- ?Crop unwanted parts on image, trim a segment off video, merge several video clips into one and add subtitles for video.
- ?Enjoy a superfast speed to transcode HEVC/H.264 4K videos thanks to hardware acceleration (Intel QSV, Nvidia NVENC) plus Hyper-threading tech employed by WinX HD Video Converter deluxe.
- ?Get vivid images and audios without video audio out of syncing issue.
